1. Money Services Businesses Activities

The Money Services Businesses (MSB) Call Report collects quarterly activity and financial data from MSB companies. The report includes national and state-specific information that is submitted on a quarterly and annual basis. Companies who are required to submit the MSB Call Report must submit both the national and state-specific information. Reporting started in the first quarter of 2017².

Activities reported in the MSB Call Report include the following:

Money Transmission	Transmitting money, domestically and/or internationally
Payment Instrument	Instrument for the transmission or payment of money or monetary value, such as money orders
Stored Value	Monetary value that is evidenced by an electronic record, such as a prepaid card or mobile wallet
Check Cashing	Cashing checks, drafts, money orders, or other commercial paper
Currency Exchange	Exchanging one fiat currency for another fiat currency
Virtual Currency	Transmitting, exchanging, holding, or otherwise controlling virtual currency

In 2022, 34 states, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico required their licensed companies to file the MSB Call Report, an increase of three states during the year. The report collects both state-specific and company-wide transaction information. The company-wide transaction totals include transactions in states that do not require the MSB call report, which gives visibility to the majority of MSB activity nationwide.

¹ Unless otherwise noted, all figures cover activity from 2022, or statuses as of December 31, 2022

²MSB Call Report data in this report reflect data submitted by companies in NMLS. Data are subject to revision for two years after the reporting period.

4. Technical Note

The 2022 MSB Call Report Market Totals provided in this report should be used on a limited basis. The information can be used to:

- Estimate the total volume for MSB companies in the United States
- Estimate the number of companies reporting in each MSB activity

These limitations are in place because of variation in reporting patterns between companies and the volatility of cryptocurrency market.

Reporting Patterns

The current activity definitions in the MSB Call Report are broad, allowing for the interpretations defined in state statutes. The definitional differences between states may affect the scope of activity reported, specifically for money transmission and virtual currency.

For example, some definitions of money transmission include virtual currency activity involving fiat currency. Due to variations in the distinction between money transmission and virtual currency, it is unclear whether the volume reported in money transmission at the nationwide level includes virtual currency.

Companies also report activity inconsistently across states, and this impacts the nationwide totals. It is possible that companies report only regulated activity in states where they are licensed. On the other hand, it is also possible that companies report all activity where they are licensed or conduct activity.
