NEBRASKA INSTALLMENT LOAN COMPANY LICENSE

Who is required to have this license?

Any person that makes loans to Nebraska residents with an interest rate in excess of 16% per annum must obtain this license. This license permits licensees to make loans to Nebraska residents with an interest rate no greater than 24% per annum. All licensees must have a physical location in Nebraska and a branch license application must be submitted for each location at which you conduct business in this state.

An installment loan company may make residential mortgage loans without obtaining a separate mortgage banker license. An installment loan company making residential mortgage loans is subject to all of the other provisions of the Residential Mortgage Licensing Act (“RMLA”), including the prohibited practices outlined in the RMLA. Mortgage loan originators who originate loans on behalf of an installment loan company must obtain a mortgage loan originator license. Residential mortgage loans are not subject to a cap on the interest rate.

Who does not need this license?

- Delayed Deposit Services Business (licensed separately)
- Mortgage Bankers/Brokers
- Financial Institutions
- Persons making loans to Nebraska residents with an interest rate of 16% per annum or less

Pre-requisites for license applications?

- Bond amount (Initial amount of $50,000 per location) plus a $100,000 supplemental bond if the applicant does not simultaneously hold a separate mortgage banker license and bond
- Physical branch location in Nebraska
- Application hearing
